Miss Jetta Campbell's Debut Is Celebrated.

MEETING OF SUMMER CLUB

Two Pretty Parties at Linwood

Miss Jetta Campbell's entrance into soclety was marked by one of the most brilliant social functions of the year. The event was marked by a large attendance of the elite of the city and was in the style of a garden party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Campbell last Wednesday evening. The house was largely given over to the guests and in every room there were elaborate floral decorations. The lawn, however, best showed the possibilities of the decorator's art. Myriads of Japanese lanterns gleamed everywhere and aided by the strong light of are lamps and railroad headlights, the beauties of the lawn showed to almost as great advantage us in mid-day. At one end of the lawn an immense dancing platform had been placed and merry dancers filled it until the last of the twenty numbers of the program had been danced. At every turn the dancers found their desire for cooling drinks anticipated. Pretty young girls presided at the punch bowls. Among them were Miss Mabel Magill, Miss Treva Aley, Miss Lelia Purdue and Miss Opal Street. In the dining room, which abounded in pretty floral decorations, brick cream was served throughout the evening. This was the

EAGLE FORCE SERENADED

World Trotters Entertain the Night Last evening the editorial rooms of the Eagle were furnished some rare music by two gentlemen who have a national reputation and who will soon be heard of in the continental countries of Europe. They are Prof. Albert Prince, the world's champion mandolin player, and Mr. Chas. McDill, a guitar expert of rare ability. These young men are on a tour around the world with no prearranged itinerary, but flitting from town to town as caprice or special circumstances demand or suggest. Prof. Prince has no equal as an artistic and finely trained performer on the mandolin, and his acompanist is likewise a finished musician and know the guitar in all its effects. The gentlemen left Kansas City two years ago, Mr. Prince giving up a well established business. Their sole motive is to fravel and see the world, their talents and genius in music to be their capital. They were in Wichita on January 14, 1898, and since then they have been in 18 states and 325 towns and cities. While in Waco, Texas, there occurred the tragic duel in which Editor W. C. Brann of the Iconociast was killed. They were eye witnesses of this affair and one of them received a stray bullet in his leg. At Omaha at the Trans-Mississippi exposition Prof. Prince won two medals, one for whistling and one for mandolin playing, both placing him as the champion in each. Next month they go with the speial train of Cryptic Masons in charge of Johes, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Frazier, Mr. Ed Wellington from Ellsworth to Denver, where the cryptic degrees of Masonry will be given in the Garden of the Gods. Next June thef go with Chief Hale of the Kansas City fire department to Europe and will then tour the continent, and at the World's Fair in Paris Prof. Prince will compete in the mandolin prize contest. The force greatly enjoyed all the rich melody, and among the several pieces played was the one which they gave and won the championship medals, "Song Without Words." They both play twelve stringed instruments, Mr. McDill's gultar being known as a sub-bass instrument. Prof. Prince's instrument was

Coroner's Jury Thinks Sunstroke Caused Mrs. McClure's Death; Coroner McLaughlin held an inquest over the remains of Mrs. Anna McClure yesterday afternoon and the jury returned the following verdict:

"We, the jury, find that the said Mrs. Anna McClure came to her death from the effects of alcohol and an overdose of morphine, and sunstroke, the sunstroke probably being the chief cause of death." There is no evidence to show that Mrs. McClure had attempted suicide, although the circumstances had pointed that way at the time she was found on the streets, and considering the history of her life during the recent months. Dr. Jordan, who attended her at the police station and at the hospital, testifled that her temperature registered from 109 to 110, showing intense heat, which would indicate that sunstroke had been the principal caue of death.

Desirability Of the Columbia Bevel-Gear Chainless.

You Have Always Bought.

A bicycle chain should be so adjusted as to have no ap preciable "slack," neither should there be any tension except when power is applied. The cyclist who rides a chain wheel under any other condition wastes a part of the energy he expends. Ali trouble incident to the chain can be avoided by riding a Columbia Bevel-Gear Chainless. The mechanism is positive and so enclosed that its running qualities cannot be affected by dust, mud or rain. It practically takes care of itself. COLUMBIA, HARTFORD and VEDETTE chain wheels are the best of their type.
